Fruit Tree Conference In 2nd Day

Top 'Dwarf'
Experts Speaks
To 350 Here

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

Various speakers from the United States, Canada and Europe related both practical and research experiences in planting and handling compact orchards Monday at the annual conference of the Dwarf Fruit Tree Association (DFTA), being held at the Hilton Inn, Benton Harbor.

Approximately 350 persons were on hand for the first day of activities of the three-day event which annually draws growers and researchers from all over the U.S. and Canada.

The conference continued today with more talks slated for the forenoon and a tour of Hilltop Orchards, Hartford, scheduled for the afternoon.

ENGLISH RESEARCHER

Keynote speaker was Dr. A. P. "Tony" Preston, superintendent of the horticultural research station, East Malling, England. Preston, who has spent most of his life researching rootstocks and pruning methods throughout the world, related a few of his experiences with orchard techniques in Australia and New Zealand, during his slide presentation following the DFTA's annual dinner banquet last night.

During the day, DFTA members heard Dr. Donald Heinicke, of the USDA research station, Wenatchee, Wash., explain the importance of training fruit trees in such a way as to obtain the utmost of sunlight, hence producing high quality and more fruit per tree.

Robert Carlson of Michigan State University's horticulture department said that EM-7 and EM-106 still were considered the leading rootstocks in Michigan and most of the plantings have been of medium density or about 180 trees per acre here.

Dr. Gerald Weaver of Vineland, Ont., stated that repeated winter injury to trees and roots has been the major problem of the peach growing area in Canada, along with controlling canker.

ARGENTINE SLIDES

Dr. Loren Tukey, horticultural research professor at Pennsylvania State University, presented a slide presentation on the fruit growing industry in Argentina, particularly the Rio Negro valley.

Other speakers during the day were W.S. "Stew" Carpenter, district horticultural agent at Paw Paw, who spoke on compact orchard practices in the Pacific Northwest, and Henry Robitaille, research assistant in the MSU horticulture department, who described various aspects of dwarfing.

Dr. Heinicke and Dr. Preston along with Dr. John Carew, chairman of the MSU horticulture department, were the scheduled main speakers this morning prior to the tour of Hilltop Orchards.

The formal program of the DFTA ends today, but both in-state and out-state members who have made prior arrangements will be touring various orchards, storage facilities and mechanical equipment companies throughout the southwestern Michigan area on Wednesday.

President's Apology Pleases Pompidou

Nixon Scores Protestors

NEW YORK (AP) — Both President Nixon and Georges Pompidou said Monday they were pleased with the result of Nixon's hurried trip to New York to offer his apology for any discourtesy to the French president by Americans.

Nixon's gesture on the last night of Pompidou's eight-day state visit appeared to have eased ill feelings resulting from demonstrations over France's agreement to sell 110 jets to Libya while refusing to release 50 to Israel.

Nixon brought cheers and laughter at a dinner for Pompidou when he said he had wanted the French leader to see the United States as an American president does. "And I must say we overdid it a bit, as we usually do."

Pompidou, who had been angered over what he termed insults to himself and his wife during a pro-Israel demonstration in Chicago, responded by praising Nixon and saying it was a "very great joy" to be at the dinner.

Raising a glass of champagne at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel dinner for 1,600 persons sponsored by Franco-American groups, President Nixon exclaimed: "Vive la France!"

"France is our oldest ally and our closest friend," Nixon said. "That friendship is so deep and so long that no minor difficulties or bad manners are going to impair it."

Pompidou beamed as Nixon spoke and replied in a toast: "In spite of all, allies and friends."

Outside the hotel a pro-Israel demonstration drew up to 5,000 persons at one point, then dwindled rapidly away.

There were shouts of "Boo, boo, Pompidou!" Placards were displayed and some chanted Hebrew songs. Most were peaceful and police reported one arrest.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen on the flight back to Washington that Nixon was "quite pleased" with Pompidou's response to his gesture and the dinner.

Ziegler described Nixon's 15-minute meeting with Pompidou before the dinner as "quite warm" and said there was "good rapport" between the two leaders.

Nixon's trip here climaxed a series of moves aimed at assuaging the French president. Nixon telephoned Pompidou Sunday night to apologize for any discourtesy suffered.

COURTEOUS TREATMENT During the day he had Ziegler issue a statement saying, "The President feels very strongly that a head of state who has

She Tells Of Youth Volunteers

First Lady
Makes Visit
To Michigan

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—First Lady Pat Nixon, barnstorming to promote student interest in volunteerism, says she's in favor of "protesting in the positive fashion."

She hailed the good deeds of young Michigan State University students she saw in action on a daylong visit here Monday.

The President's wife said she doesn't know whether she can enlist the radicals by her mission this week focusing attention on college student volunteers in five states — Michigan, Kentucky, Ohio, Colorado, and Missouri.

But, she told a press conference Monday night, "I would hope more people would join the volunteer movement, because I think it is very important."

'SPIRIT, ENTHUSIASM'

Mrs. Nixon was impressed with the "spirit and enthusiasm" of the MSU students she watched at work with blind and retarded children, elderly nursing home residents and at after-school activities with neighborhood youngsters.

She said the dramatic story of these college students has not been told.

Mrs. Nixon stayed off the campus of 40,000-student MSU in East Lansing during her visit. She was asked if the possibility of demonstrations kept her away from campuses here and other states on her trip.

"No," she said. "When I announced my trip, I said that I was going to see students in action. And I had to go where the action was. That's why I went out to see them (students) working on their projects."

There were no demonstrations and Mrs. Nixon attracted little public attention outside of an airport arrival crowd of under 1,000, many of them school children given a half-day off.

Much of her time schedule was kept secret. Mrs. Nixon said her first day's tour showed her how much the people they worked with loved the student volunteers, how staff members lauded the good job they do and how the volunteers benefitted as well.

"My whole day has been a memorable one," Mrs. Nixon declared as she appeared at an evening press conference flanked by 15 specially selected MSU student volunteers.

She met privately in her Jack Tar hotel suite with the students, refusing to permit any of the large groups of reporters to attend the wrap-up.

BH Parents Seek Link With Son

The parents of a missing 17-year-old boy issued an appeal for anyone knowing of the youth's whereabouts to encourage him to contact his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wagner, 1180 East Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, said their son, Loren, a Benton Harbor high school senior, left home Jan. 5 and that efforts to locate him through police channels have not been successful. They said they have reason to believe one or more local friends of the boy have been in contact with him recently.

The mother said they are extremely anxious for the boy to contact them, adding that if he is in trouble of any nature they want to help him.

Water Will Cost $1,175 Per House

SJ Township Estimate

Water at the tap will cost, the figures he announced last night are subject to a final check by auditors but he predicted the average would be close to $1,175.

The cost will vary throughout the township, Benson said and that total was made up of approximately $800 as the benefit charge which is payable over 20 years with six per cent interest on the unpaid balance plus $175 for the tap-in charge, meter and line to seven feet of the property line plus another $200 estimated cost to put the line into the house and connect to the present home system.

Missing Moon Dust Recovered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A stolen vial of moon dust has been recovered undamaged from a mailbox by police tipped off by an anonymous telephone caller.

Dr. George Wetherill of the University of California at Los Angeles, to whom the sample was assigned by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Monday the two-inch vial had not been tampered with.

Police gave the dust to a NASA representative Monday afternoon.

Trustee Robert DeVries said he has been quoting figures 25 per cent higher than what was announced last night and residents, he talked to did not consider them out of line.

The cash cost would probably be under $500 to get water. Township Attorney John Crow said this would be the first payment on the benefit charge, approximately $40 plus $48 interest plus the $375 installation charge. Subsequently the annual charge would be the one-twentieth of the total.

Trash Can Of Pennies His Answer

Income Tax Agent
Treated Him
'With Contempt'

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — A service station operator said today he planned to pay a $734.89 U.S. income tax bill with a trash can full of pennies because a tax man treated him "with contempt."

Harold Ballew, 23, went to several banks to collect more than 1,400 rolls of pennies and it took him and his three employees four hours to unroll them and fill the can.

He said that an Internal Revenue Service agent was "petty and made me feel as if I was leaving my family."

The IRS agent he mentioned had no comment on Ballew's statement Monday.

Ballew, the father of four and a freshman in college, said he never missed a tax payment until last November when the $1,298 quarterly bill "was just too much."

Ballew said he sent $398 immediately and another $500 last Tuesday, but the IRS man demanded full payment on Friday, including interest and a penalty.

"He gave me a note," Ballew said, "there were four words 'tax lien or padlock.' He was going to close my business. How could I pay him if he did that?"

Ballew said, it was all "a question of manner—if he had treated me like a man, and a citizen this never would have happened."

Ballew said he didn't think the IRS would "treat me this way if I were the General Motors Corp. Unless they figured I was just a little guy, and they could hang me."

Keeping In Touch

Richard Nixon and the Democratic high command have a common goal for antagonistic purposes in mind.

This is the art of keeping attuned to the public's pulse.

Thus far the President has enjoyed much the better of it in this contest of wits.

With few exceptions, his utterances to the public or to Congress have hit a responsive chord.

The Democrats are searching for a national chairman to unify their ranks, to get the party out of hock from the '68 campaign, and to sound a tocsin which may ouster the White House bell.

The Presidential obligation is much higher, or certainly should be, than bending to public whim like a wheat straw in the slightest breeze.

National policy, even U.S. survival, from time to time may require a White House posture which is not overly popular throughout the countryside.

Yet if the White House consistently steers a course completely at odds with majority thinking, only chaos can result.

The requirement, then, is for the President to make understandable that which is unknown or distrusted by the public, and for him to sound the depth of the political waters upon which he is sailing the ship of state.

George E. Reedy, a one time press secretary to Lyndon Johnson, has written some timely observations concerning the difficulty of keeping White House thinking and public sentiment reasonably close to one another.

Few men entered the White House better acquainted with the feel for public sentiment than did LBJ.

His political acumen as majority leader in the Senate had no peer and for the first part of his fully elected term, Johnson as President and Johnson as the public's mind reader were unsurpassed.

By 1966, writes Reedy, his former boss had lost that skill because of the isolation in which he lived and worked.

This isolation is not one of choice, but one of circumstance which has grown up around the presidency.

The job itself is too great for one human mind to fulfill in all of its intricacies and the President is forced to rely upon a battalion of aides for judgments in specialized fields.

Unfortunately, some of these aides are not the experts they are touted and practically all of them are bending the Presidential ear to accord priority to their own pet projects.

Insulating the President from the public is a standard procedure among the White House retinue.

Johnson fell into this muffling trap.

Although many an LBJ corpsman complained of his heavy-handed driving manners, none chose to dispute his demands on their time, nor to state forcibly what their instincts and own public soundings indicated to be a collision course for their chief.

Reedy leaves to guesswork how Johnson would have reacted to less than full yesmanship from his lieutenants, but his point is indisputed that LBJ's assistants diligently screened him off from the White House's outer perimeter.

Remarkably, Nixon has kept this fog from his binoculars and if he can maintain that sort of 20-20 vision he will be the first President since FDR in his early New Deal days to have an unimpeded ground level view of the situation.

The Presidency has been called the world's loneliest job.

It can also be the most deceptive to the incumbent if he is not as perceptive in office as he was when campaigning for the office.

New Climate Threat

A British meteorologist warns that Soviet plans to divert three giant Siberian rivers from the Arctic, where they now empty, to the desert region between the Caspian and Aral seas could have serious consequences to the world's climate.

The Soviets are known to have considered the mammoth project, which would involve construction of thousands of miles of canals, for at least 15 years. Probably it is the long range effects of the diversion which have stalled the project, but there are reports some construction work on the canals now is underway.

Hubert Lamb, the British climatologist who is raising the alarm, estimates that half the fresh water now flowing into the Arctic region would be diverted if the waters from the Pechora, Ob and Yenisei rivers were routed to the arid region in the south. This could cause a melting of the ice cap of the North, since the surface waters would have a higher brine content.

To the Soviets, however, the immediate advantages are compelling. Providing a continuous supply of water to the Caspian and Aral seas, both of which have been drying up, and the desert region in between could mean reclaiming 85 million acres of arid land and draining 150 million acres of swamp.

Valuable though these reclamations would be, they pale by comparison to the damage which could result from any significant melting of the polar ice cap. The most extreme results could include vast new desert regions appearing throughout the world, including parts of North America.

Scientists everywhere should take note of this, particularly if it is true the Russians already have started on their dangerous folly.

Solution For Sports

The first complaint about overlapping sports seasons was probably uttered when the double bill at the Roman Colosseum cut into the gate at the chariot races across town. And 2,000 years of beefing haven't ended the occurrence.

Everyone by now is accustomed to the two-sport season—the world series competing with football, basketball's agonized finish in counterpoint to the thump of horsehide in Florida (some sportswriters still call a baseball a horsehide).

But the twilight zone now involves not two, but four or half a dozen sports. Pro football ends just as baseball's spring training starts, baseball runs into football in autumn, and basketball bangs headon into both. And indoor track picks up where others leave off.

In every season there is a plethora, a glut, surfeit of sports. This makes it impossible for the dedicated all-sports fan to give any sport the attention it deserves.

Perhaps a remedy would be to select 25 major sports, with each given two weeks as its season and forbidden during the rest of the year. This would give the fan a chance to concentrate.

The two weeks left vacant could be devoted to an all-sports spectacular—public punishment, such as drawing and quartering, for broadcasters, sportswriters, etc., who mentioned any sport out of season. It might draw the biggest crowds of the year.

Irish tradition holds that St. Patrick drove out the island's snakes in the fifth century, but scientists have no evidence that the creatures ever existed there, National Geographic says.

ROCKS ON HER MIND
Now Blossom Time is nearing and I seem to vaguely recall this very season in the early 'fifties.

A suggestion was made in a city council meeting or in the newspapers as how to cope with our disappearing lake shoreline. It was advised all visitors to our town for the big parade, bring a rock or stone; so, consequently, the erosion would be halted.

It inspired me to compose the following ode which I share with all readers now.

Blossom Time is almost here,
But kinda different, we fear,
Something new they want to add
My, is this the latest fad.

To each who watch the great parade
An odd request has been made,
A pebble, stone, or a rock
Everyone must have his stock.

We would like to join the groups,
Honestly, we're no stoops,
Yet confusion makes us sorry
Just what stone should we quarry.

Because of patriotic thought
Plymouth rock just might be brought,
Or perhaps, with lend-lease loan
We could get the Blarney Stone.

Let's try to win Great Britain over
And use their famed White Cliffs of Dover,
Prudential maybe wouldn't falter
Were we to take good old Gibraltar.

Many meanings we derive
For rocks, but still arrive
To this true fact, not to offend
But diamonds are a gal's best friend.

Have you tried our biscuit mix—
Could be used in place of bricks.
How about Question Number One
With this loot, what's to be done.

Perhaps used for changing scenes
Or to toss at passing queens,
Gosh, with stuff from all the nation
Where to build this rock formation.

Since we've dug up all this dirt
People call us Gravel Gert,
Seems we are the greatest hits
In those sand and marble pits.

Still we ask both night and day
To all strangers must we say,
Opportunity never knocks
St. Joe now is on the rocks.

I am enclosing an article taken from a newspaper dated February 27. I was wondering if the new nuclear power plant in Bridgman would pollute Lake Michigan and also the air? I am sure other persons are wondering the same thing.

"Miami (AP) — A precedent-setting federal-state conference has recommended that the Florida Power and Light Co be required to prove it will not damage the aquatic life of Biscayne Bay before its nuclear plant under construction at Turkey Point may go into operation.

"The recommendations, if upheld in court tests expected to come, will affect 15 nuclear plants now in operation in the United States, 48 under construction, 32 under contract and many more to follow in the new age of nuclear industry.

"The conference recommended unanimously that FP&L be forced to cool the water to 90 degrees."

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

Moles and birthmarks are known as nevi, the plural of nevus. These are small areas of discoloration of the skin which vary in color, size, thickness and appearance. They can be found on the skin in all parts of the body.

I have for years been aware of the fears that many people have about these birthmarks. Almost everyone can recite a story, real or by hearsay, that has frightened him. It is true that occasionally some nevi are dangerous. This, however, is so rare that it is pathetic for many people to go through life fearful that their life is in danger by the very presence of a mole.

I have known of patients who have been told "to watch it for any changes" and have spent all of their productive lives "watching it" and living in dread of any changes.

Watching any mole should be the job of the doctor who knows that there are innumerable types and understand that most of these nevi are not a threat.

Each birthmark is one's own private possession and cannot be compared with that of another person. Trading sizes, shapes and colors of birthmarks is a pointless game that breeds unnecessary anxiety.

A letter from a reader, Miss L. A. C., concerns her fear of parrot fever. She humorously said "I want to be sure that my new parrot will not be angry with me and make me sick because I am teaching substitute words for the 'sailor' made" ones he knew."

Psittacosis, or parrot fever, is an unusual type of infection of the lungs that resembles pneumonia and is caused by a virus passed from parrots to humans. Lovable parakeets and even lovebirds, too, sometimes carry the virus in their intestines. The infection in human lungs can follow inhaling the dust from the feathers of infected birds. Sometimes a bite can cause this condition.

The diagnosis is a difficult one and ornithosis, as it is known, is determined by very special and highly technical examination of the blood of the person who is thought to be infected. Rarely is this condition ever passed from one human to another, but it does occasionally occur.

Rigid public health controls are placed on the importation of birds. Controls over infected pigeons are most important to prevent widespread dissemination of parrot fever.

We believe that we eat a very normal, nutritional diet. Yet my four-year-old boy has cracks in the corner of his mouth. Can this be a vitamin deficiency?

Mrs. P. K., Arizona

Dear Mrs. K.: These tiny fissures are known as perleche. The likelihood is that this is due to drooling of saliva rather than a vitamin deficiency in your child's case. Excess salivation from poorly-fitting dentures can cause the same thing in adults.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: The value of fluoride to prevent cavities now seems unquestionable.

Opening lead — ace of spades.

Let's say you're declarer at five hearts and West leads the ace and another spade, which you ruff.

The situation is not entirely promising. You are bound to lose a diamond, come what may, so to make the contract you will have to play both the hearts and the clubs without loss, even though you are missing four to the queen of each suit.

Ordinarily, you would play for the drop, which is the mathematically recommended method when missing four to the queen. You would hope the A-K will catch the queen on the first or second round.

But playing for the drop would not be a smart move in the present case. The opponents did voluntarily bid four spades, and it is reasonable to suppose that they would not have done so if they each had two hearts and two clubs to lose on top of two diamonds — for in that case they would be subjecting themselves to an 800-point penalty.

It follows from this that either one or the other of the opponents will have singletons (possibly a void) in the key suits.

Accordingly, you lead a heart to the ace and return a heart on which East plays the ten. Consistent with your theory, you finesse the jack. West shows out, discarding a diamond, and you are greatly pleased to have surmounted the first hurdle.

The next problem is to deal with the clubs. Since you have already successfully played West for a singleton heart, you should forestall any possible charge of discrimination and assume that East is the defender who is short in clubs.

After drawing East's last trump, you cash the king of clubs and finesse the ten. This operation likewise proves to be a huge success, and the reward for having twice transgressed the mathematical percentages is that you make five hearts.

BH STRIVES TO PULL OUT OF FISCAL HOLE

CALM BUT CONTROVERSIAL: Opposition to sale of this city-owned riverfront property along St. Joseph river erupted at St. Joseph city commission meeting last night. Atty. Thomas McCoy, member of a three-man corporation, hopes to purchase two parcels extending along Water street from Blossomland bridge to foot of State street. They are about 170 feet and 290 feet in length and average about 100 feet in depth. A larger parcel of Urban Renewal land extends from other side of State street to railroad bridge. Opponents of plans to place two office buildings expressed desire for open parkland. (Staff photo)

Sale Of Riverfront Land Draws Protest In St. Joe

Commission Delays Action For Week

ATTY. TAT PARISH

A move toward commercial development of St. Joseph riverfront property stalled in the city commission last night amid charges of railroad, violation of city and federal rules and demands for its use as parkland.

Almost 20 citizens turned out at city hall to oppose the city's sale of 1.1 acres of Urban Renewal property west of Blossomland bridge, below Lakeview Terrace. The commission, equipped with contracts for sale of the land, agreed to postpone action one week and allow further investigation.

Atty. Tat Parish urged commissioners to defer action on the contracts until the public has the chance to speak its mind. He asserted the proposed sale had come as a "complete surprise" and recommended a two-week delay and a public hearing to air opinions.

LAKEVIEW PETITION

Others were on hand to say they think the area should remain undeveloped for aesthetic reasons. Myrtle Baugher, a resident of Lakeview Terrace, presented a petition with signatures of some 100 other residents who favor preserving the land as a park.

Mrs. James Skinner, of 460 Ridgeway, said she had watched other waterfront properties lost to commercial and industry and now wanted to resist the loss of this property to the same use. Arguing against development for tax reasons, she asked "Why not something just to look at?"

Parish said he represented a group of property owners in the Urban Renewal area. Chief among them he identified L. Montgomery Shepard of the Berrien County Abstract and Title Co.; Alan Baker, chairman of the Berrien County Building authority; and John P. (Bud) Barlow of Barlow's Laundry and Dry Cleaners in Courthouse Square.

TWO BUILDINGS

Atty. Thomas McCoy is a member of a three-man corporation seeking to place two office buildings on the riverfront property. With McCoy are Bud Whelan and John G. Yerington.

Their plans call for two buildings on adjoining property. The smaller would be a one-story, 4,000 square-foot building. The larger one would contain 10,000 square feet of space in two stories. Both would contain professional office space.

According to contracts drawn up by City Attorney Arthur G. Preston, Jr., the two parcels of land under consideration would sell for a total price of $23,183. Preston said the contracts were drawn up in line with Urban Renewal contracts previously approved by the commission.

In arguing against commercialization, Parish charged neither city zoning nor Urban Renewal plans would allow the sale. The property is zoned park and cultural, he said, and office space is specifically prohibited. Under Urban Renewal regulations, he added, the only sort of commercial development allowed is such waterfront commerce

St. Joe Votes April 6 On Viaduct Bond Issue

St. Joseph voters will vote April 6, whether the city should issue $210,000 in bonds to finance a new Park street viaduct.

St. Joseph city commissioners last night unanimously agreed to place the resolution on the ballot. If approved by the voters, it could add to current tax rates not more than 65 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation, or .65 mill.

The revenue raised will provide a replacement to the deteriorating viaduct, which crosses the C&O railroad tracks just south of Lakefront park. Studies by the city and an independent engineering firm have labeled the old structure as dangerous. It has been off limits to all but passenger cars since last October.

City Attorney Arthur G. Preston, Jr., said both property owners and non-property owners will be allowed to vote on the proposal, but two separate tallies will be made. This is done in view of recent federal court decisions in such elections and on the advice of the Detroit bond council of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, who recommended the move to eliminate any possible question of legality, Preston said.

Counting the votes raises a problem, Preston acknowledged. The city is hoping for a majority in both groups, he said. But if this does not occur, he added, it will be up to the bond council to determine how the count will be made.

In other matters, the commission tabled a request from St. Joseph township to install a sewer line across city-owned property on Brown School road. The property adjoins Highland cemetery to the south. Preston noted the city now is attempting in circuit court to vacate that cemetery and the township is opposing the move. Under the circumstances, Preston said he thought approval of the township's request might be withheld.

The commission agreed, but only after Commissioner Richard Globensky had suggested it might be just the opportunity for the city to put a good foot forward in an attempt to patch up relations with the township. Commissioners voted for the demolition of a two-story house at 404 Lake street, property at the Drake and Wallace realty company. The building has been determined substandard by the city and last night was set as a hearing to learn of the owners' plans for renovation or demolition. No one appeared.

Four-Mill Tax Up For April Vote

Police, Fire Pension Setup Due For Change

A four-mill property tax increase proposal aimed at pulling Benton Harbor's city government out of a financial hole was ordered onto the April 6 election ballot last night.

The city commission ordered the referendum in an 8-0 vote with one commissioner passing. The decision formalized a Feb. 23 agreement to seek the three-year measure.

NEW PENSION PLAN

Also approved was preparation of a proposal to put new police and fire department employees under the state's pension plan. City Atty. Samuel Henderson was instructed to draft the pension matter which involves a change in the city charter and a referendum. No date was mentioned for the referendum which requires a waiting period of at least 60 days after it is adopted by the commission.

If approved, employees hired after a future unspecified date would be part of the state plan. The present system, at the same time, would be continued until all commitments were met for employees involved.

Commissioner T. Gregory Longpre proposed the change to get the city eventually out of the financial dilemma stemming from the existing pension system. It has been estimated that the city owes $2 million to the fund to cover back investment requirements.

Stewart said pension fund actuaries were seeking an $800,000 payment to the police-firemen's fund and the city general pension fund in 1970-71. But he said he was recommending a "pay-as-you-go" basis right now.

Stewart said the proposed property tax increases, coupled with cost cuts which he estimated at $95,795, could balance the 1970-71 projected budget according to his latest study. The levy would yield about $256,000 yearly, he said. General operating budget requests for the year, he said, amounted to $2.1 million.

Stewart stressed after the meeting that the projected cut-back figure was not final. The actual amount, he said, would not be known until the formal proposed 1970-71 budget is submitted to the commission next Monday night.

A projected $400,000 to $500,000 total deficit figure had been estimated earlier by Stewart and Mayor Wilbert F. Smith up to the latest review. It was $50,000 to $150,000 over the latest figures.

Stewart declined to spell out what the $95,795 represented in actual cuts. But he said about $41,000 was taken from the police and fire department projections.

One other part of the cut-backs said Stewart would be reducing the fire department's housing inspection staff by three. The three men would go back into the fire fighting force would then be reduced accordingly through either non-filling of vacancies or cuts, if necessary.

If adopted, the levy would boost the city tax rate to 14 mills. Each mill is equal to $1 on each $100 of taxable property value.

No change in the city charter was tied to the tax proposal because the amount was being sought as a separate, temporary measure. The charter limits the rate to 10.

All registered voters, both property owners and non-property owners, will be eligible to vote on the proposal.

Voting to place the issue on the ballot were Mayor Smith and commissioners Longpre, Ralph Itoika, Virgil May, John Stanek, Edward Merrill, Charles Gray and F. Joseph Flaugh.

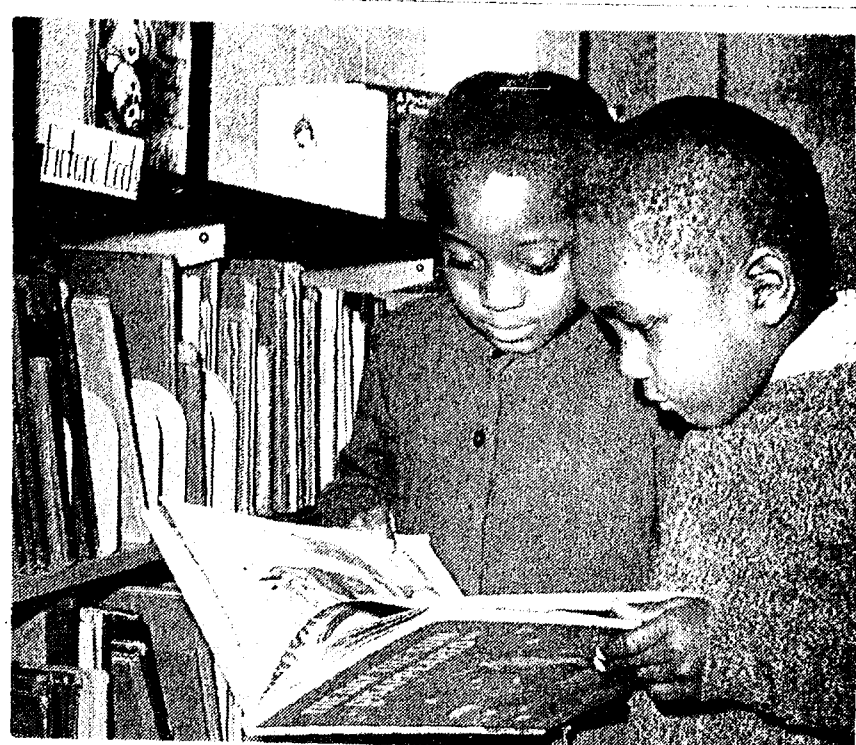

SHEELEY PASSES

Commissioner Rex Sheeley passed his vote, saying he is "short-timer" on the commission. Sheeley is not seeking re-election in the April 6 election.

Longpre, prime sponsor of the four-mill plan, appealed to voters to "look favorably" on it.

"Too often in the past few years," Longpre said, "people have taken a wrong look at the city. We have many fine things here. Citizens are now being given the opportunity to meet

DISCOVERING BOOKS: Pre-school children enrolled in the year-round Benton Harbor schools Head Start program at the A.M.E. church, South Crystal avenue, are learning to love books says their teacher, Mrs. Michael Ortega. They've been enacting stories from picture books and recently Mrs. Inez Duncan, children's librarian at Benton Harbor public library, gave them a tour of the children's section and explained that their parents can sign books out for them. The experiences are aimed at familiarizing children with using books, learning from the pictures and to show that books are available to them. (Staff photo)

St. Bernard's School Will Be Used Next Year

For First, Second Graders

The Lake Michigan Catholic board of education voted last night to expand to a third campus in 1970-71 by placing all first and second graders at Fairplain St. Bernard's.

The action means that all primary grades will be abandoned at St. Joseph's Catholic which will house grades 9 through 12. Grades 3 through 8 will be at Benton Harbor St. John's, and grades 1 and 2 at Fairplain.

St. John's and St. Joseph's each presently have grades 1-4. St. John's also houses grades 5-8 and the high school is located in St. Joseph. Four classrooms at St. Bernard's are not being used.

EDWARDSBURG

Man Charged With Beating 2½-Year-Old

EDWARDSBURG — An Edwardsburg man was to be arraigned this morning in Fourth District court in Cassopolis on a charge of child beating following his arrest last night by state police from the Niles post.

Troopers said they arrested Jimmy Ronald Lee, 34, of route 2, Box 171, Pine Lake road, Edwardsburg, on a felony warrant charging him with the beating of a 2½-year-old boy about Feb. 25.

Lee was lodged in the Cass county jail following his arrest.

grades at St. Bernard's is intended to relieve overcrowding in the high school and to provide better instruction and curriculum for the elementary grades.

The Lake Michigan Catholic school system has a current enrollment of 1,125 — 427 in high school, 131 in primary grades at St. Joseph; 567 in primary and middle school in Benton Harbor.

Atty. Robert Vandenberg who cast one of two votes against the move said he thought it was premature until the budget and busing could be worked out.

Board member Patrick Ryan reported transportation would cost an estimated $4,500 extra by placing St. Bernard's in a triangular route between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. Catholic school students who are eligible presently ride public school buses to St. John's and St. Joseph's.

Other transportation, including a shuttle bus between the two schools, is under contract to Twin Cities Motor Transit.

TEACHERS' SUPPORT

Teachers testified overwhelmingly in favor of putting first and second graders at St. Bernard's which has excellent classrooms and wide open spaces for play.

Sister Laura, elementary principal, said children in primary grades are getting a better education in Benton Harbor than in St. Joseph. More materials are available in Benton Harbor. Elementary children in St. Joseph are in a high school oriented building which is detrimental to both high school and elementary students because of different class hours. Putting all first and second graders under one roof will mean better distribution of materials and will improve faculty communication, she said.

The board was faced with the alternative of either using St. Bernard's or making renovations to improve classrooms in St. Joseph.

In another matter, Sister Joseph Damian read a resolution from LMC middle school teachers objecting to a policy adopted last month giving the board the right to "approve, certify and control educational programs of a controversial nature." Sex education and narcotics were cited specifically.

CALLED INTERFERENCE

She called the board's policy ambiguous and interference with curriculum.

The policy provides that such subjects must be approved by the board. Parents are invited to attend, children are to be excused at parents' request and at least one parent must be present during the program.

Presence of parents during instructional time was called censorship and inhibiting to response from children. Vincent Miller, board president, noted the policy can be amended.

Ryan, a St. Joseph public junior high principal, said presence of parents in the classroom hurts the chances of getting a message across to students. However, parents should have the opportunity to see a controversial program first.

Hunter, 11, Wounded By Gunshot

David Scott Sater, 11, of 3933 Meadow lane, St. Joseph, was admitted to St. Joseph Memorial hospital Sunday with gunshot wounds accidentally received while rabbit hunting. His condition today was fair.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sater, was hunting with his brother Donald, Jr., 13, and a neighbor, Burl Gilhert, 28, when he was wounded in the leg, hand and abdomen, he told Berrien sheriff's deputies.

The young hunter told deputies he fired at a rabbit when a dog chased the rabbit his way. He was wounded at the same time, but neither Gilbert nor David's brother fired at the rabbit, they said.

BUCHANAN SAYS 'NO' TO NEW HIGH SCHOOL

No Action Taken On
PetitionsDeadline March 18
For Decision On
Dowagiac Library

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac city council last night took no action on what to do about petitions calling for the repeal of a zoning ordinance adopted to permit construction of a public library.

Petitions were certified by the council on Feb. 16. Alternatives for the council are repeal of the zoning ordinance, or putting the issue to public vote. The council has until March 18 to act, or 30 days from the time petitions were certified. The next council session is March 16.

The library is proposed for a site on Green street, between Division and Courtland streets. It was rezoned by the council to accommodate the building, but opposing petitions suspended the ordinance.

OTHER PETITIONS

Still other petitions are being circulated to seek an election on the issuing of general obligation bonds amounting to $215,000. Interest would add another $331,900 over 30 years. The bond issue had been approved by a Dowagiac Building Authority. If successful, the petition drive could halt the issuance of the bonds, pending an election on the matter. These petitions have not yet been filed.

Mayor James E. Burke last night said he has not polled the council to determine how members will vote on an alternative to the suspended zoning ordinance.

The council in other matters tabled two bids for licenses for taxicabs. Leon O. Myers of Niles, owner of Ace Cab Co., indicated that he would like to operate a cab here now and add more later, if needed. Thomas Doyle of Dowagiac, who operates one cab here now, told the council he wants to purchase remaining licenses offered by the city for six cabs.

While no action was taken, Dowagiac Police Chief George Grady and Fire Chief Joseph Cauffman spoke favorably toward a request by Indian Lake volunteer fire department for an improved answering service on fire calls.

RADI SYSTEM

Richard A. Bannow, secretary of the Indian Lake department, asked in a letter to the council that fire calls from residents of Silver Creek township (handled by Indian Lake department) be sent to Dowagiac, with calls then relayed back by radio to firemen in the township. Currently, calls go to phones of some 20 department members. With a radio system, each fireman from Indian Lake department could carry a radio receiver with him wherever he went.

The council indicated that factors to be considered include cost of changing equipment, installation of additional equipment and assurance that the city would not be held accountable for fire loss.

City Manager Norman M. Gaffney said there were no takers on bids advertised for two new police patrol cars. He said an apparent reason is that the city would trade in two older cars and there is now a surplus of used cars on the market. The council voted to advertise for bids again.

Approved were bills and payroll totaling $70,638.

Burglars
Get $500

PAW PAW — Michigan state police continued their investigation today of two week-end break-ins, one in which an estimated $500 in cash and checks was reported taken.

The break-ins were at Producer's Creamery near Paw Paw, and a Burnette Farms Packing Co. office in Keeler, state police at the Paw Paw post said.

State police said an estimated $500 in cash and checks was reported taken from the creamery after entrance had been gained by smashing out a window in the rear.

Nothing was reported taken in the break-in at Keeler, state police said.

Both break-ins are believed to have occurred early Sunday morning, state police said.

Van Buren Clerk Must Seek Election In '70

BY STEVE McQUOWN

PAW PAW — It now appears Van Buren County Attorney William Buhl confirmed Monday that County Clerk Thomas Kiefer will have to campaign for election this year.

Kiefer, a former supervisor, was selected by county supervisors in early 1969 to fill the vacancy created when then County Clerk Rex Martin died after being re-elected to a four-year term in November 1968.

There had been some question, Buhl said, whether Kiefer would complete Martin's unexpired term or would hold office until the next general election, this November.

At Kiefer's request, Buhl said, he issued a preliminary opinion stating that Kiefer would hold office until January, 1973.

A subsequent study of the statutes revealed that Kiefer must now campaign for re-election this year, the county attorney said.

Kiefer, who is to return from vacation later this week, is apparently unaware of the most recent statutory interpretation.

Other county posts scheduled for voter consideration in November include those of the county commissioners, the township supervisors and that of district court judge in the eastern portion of the county.

The court post is presently held by Judge Luther I. Daines, who was appointed in April 1969 to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of then Judge Lewis R. Williams.

Williams resigned after pleading guilty in Van Buren Circuit Court to a charge of indecent exposure.

Margin In Large Vote
Almost 2-1Plan To Resubmit
$6.75 Million
Building Program

BUCHANAN — More than one-half of the registered voters in the Buchanan school district went to the polls Monday to defeat the proposed $6.75 million building program by a margin of almost two to one.

School board president Bernard Ellis acting as spokesman for the board said the defeat was a "great blow to the future of the Buchanan area."

Supt. Richard Dougherty was to get a ruling today on procedures necessary for re-submitting the issue to the voters, but said it would be at least six months before the proposal can be voted on again. 1,391 SAY 'NO'

Of the 4,400 registered voters in the district, 2,233 voted Monday. The total vote was 1,391 no and 829 yes. Both property owners and non-property owners were allowed to vote on a proposal to build a new high school and remodel the present high school into a middle school. The total vote broken down included 1,347 no and 760 yes for the property owners and 69 yes and 44 no with three spoiled by the non-property owners.

Ellis had said before the election, approval of the building program was necessary to alleviate overcrowding and enable the district to offer improved and more modern teaching methods. He said approval would have allowed the district to revise curriculum. With more room, the district could have offered courses it can not now offer, especially at the junior high level, because of space limitations.

The $6,750,000 bond issue would have been payable over a 30-year period. The millage levy to pay for the program would have ranged between 7.2 and 7.7 mills depending on the interest rate at which the bonds might have been sold.

BOARD'S STATEMENT

The board's joint statement as given by Ellis is as follows: "The defeat today by the Buchanan Community School voters of the building program which has been developed over the last two years is a great blow to the future of the Buchanan area."

"Buchanan Community schools are now faced with the continuation of overcrowded conditions at all levels of the system. It will not be possible now to broaden the subject matter available to our students to provide the type of education needed today. Neither will it be possible to institute the improved teaching methods we believe are so important since our present buildings are not of the type which will permit use of these concepts."

"The Buchanan area will not have the community center which was planned as a part of the building program. We will be restricted in the amount of community participation that we will be able to provide for various age levels. It will not be possible to develop our community program to the desired extent to provide expanded education, recreational and cultural activities."

"The building construction cost in the program was $6.7 million. If these buildings had been constructed in 1965, costs would have been about $3.7 million and if they are not constructed until 1975, costs will be about $11.1 million. Construction costs are rising fast, it behooves us to build as soon as possible."

"The school board will review these conditions at the next public meeting at 7:30 p.m. on March 16 at the Harold C. Stark school."

Assistant
Prosecutor
To Quit

RAY E. BARRETT

PAW PAW — Van Buren county assistant prosecutor Ray E. Barrett of South Haven confirmed Monday night that he has submitted his conditional resignation.

Barrett cited inadequate pay as the primary reason for telling his boss, County Prosecutor William Buhl, that he plans to quit, the 45-year-old attorney said.

KNEW BEFORE

Buhl confirmed that "sometime in November" Barrett informed him that he would be resigning.

Buhl said that Barrett had promised however to stay on until a replacement could be found.

No replacement has been hired but Buhl said he is continuing to look for someone to take the job.

Barrett, formerly of Kalamazoo, was named to his post here in January, 1969. He resides in South Haven.

Buhl denied rumors that he was preparing to force Barrett to resign.

"Ray is unhappy with the salary," Buhl said.

He said of Barrett's work that "you couldn't ask for anybody to put in any more time and effort than Ray has."

State Will Pay Half Of Marina Repair Cost

South Haven Problem 'Unique'

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — The City of South Haven will probably have to assume half the costs of repairing its ice-damaged municipal marina, a State Waterways Commission representative told the city council Monday night.

Charles Latimer, recreation-harbor administrator for the state agency, told the council that the Waterways Commission was sympathetic to the problem, but that the city should not expect the state to pick up the entire cost for repairing the marina which is less than a year old.

BH Man Arrested In Knifing

Victim Treated And Released

Benton Harbor police arrested Lucian H. Brown, 54, of 411 Park street, Benton Harbor, early today after another man was stabbed in an argument at a Paw Paw avenue address.

Brown was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

The victim, Gilbert Taylor, 39, of 344 Colby street, Benton Harbor, was taken to Benton Harbor Mercy hospital, after he walked into Mammanna's tavern, 390 Territorial road, with cuts on his face and chest.

Taylor told Patrolman Robert Polmanter he was cut on the head several times and stabbed in the left side of his chest. The medical staff in the emergency room at Mercy stitched the cuts and released Taylor.

Brown was arrested at his home several hours after the fight. A jackknife found in his trousers pocket was confiscated by police, as the possible weapon used in the knifing at 304 Paw Paw avenue.

Curley Jones, 73, of 684 Vineyard street, Benton Harbor, was also arrested by Officer Polmanter on a drunk and disorderly charge while Polmanter was investigating an auto accident. Polmanter said Jones was a witness to the knifing.

Benton Harbor Deputy Gary Methling arrested Franklin Holt, 19, of New Troy, and a 15-year-old Buchanan youth early today on charges of breaking and entering. The juvenile was petitioned to Benton juvenile court.

The two were charged with entering the home of Ethel Irvin, Route 2, Buchanan, Saturday. Methling recovered a phonograph, guitar, records, tape player, shaver and several small items stolen from the house.

Bridgman To Buy New School Bus

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman school board last night accepted low bids for the purchase of a chassis and body for a new school bus.

The chassis will be purchased from Del's Ford, Bridgman, at a cost of $4,175, and the body from McPadden Corp., Lansing, which entered a low bid of $4,540.

Supt. Gerard Keidel reported that parent-teacher conferences would be held April 15 and 16 for elementary students and April 16 on the high school level.

Keidel also reported that he is investigating the cost of purchasing additional bleachers for the high school football field in time for the 1970 season.

Three teachers, Mrs. Diane Gibbons, Mrs. Nancy Plunkett, and Mrs. Vicki Markavitch reported on the district's special reading program, designed to help students overcome reading difficulties.

ST. JOSEPH, MICH.

HOUSTON (AP) — An elderly Herman Park Zoo worker was mauled by a Bengal tiger Monday.

Leody J. Miquez, 66, was clipping grass outside the female tiger's cage when the animal stuck a paw through the bars and grabbed him.

Miquez was clawed from head to waist. Surgeons said his condition was satisfactory.

Jessie Smith, 28, said he banged a trash can against the cage until the tiger let Miquez go.

Zoo Director John Weller said he believed the big cat grabbed Miquez in play, but got rough when he tried to pull free.

that was constructed for $380,000.

Latimer told the council that the state has supported repair projects in the past when damage is "an act of God."

"HOLD OUR BREATH"

"In my 18 years of experience, I have never seen this kind of damage before," Latimer said. "This is one of the hazards of being in the dock business; every winter we hold our breath about possible ice damage."

Latimer appeared at the meeting along with marina designer John R. Snell of Lansing.

"You have no reason to blame the designer for this problem," Latimer said. "They (Snell) designed the marina according to state standards."

The main problem at the marina has been that ice has pulled on bumper timber forcing the docks to splinter over the pilings.

"Lake Michigan has risen two feet and two inches in the past two years and according to all available predictions the bumpers should have been out of water; they just simply were not," said Snell.

Latimer explained that the state has encountered problems at other marinas it has constructed.

"Every problem is unique though; we have no way of knowing what to expect," he said. "We had every reason to believe that our design would work in South Haven."

After considerable discussion the council authorized City Manager Albert Pierce to seek estimates for repairing the damage and then to make application for Waterways Commission assistance.

In other action, the council approved a recommendation from the Planning Commission to secure the services of W.A. Ripalle Associates, Inc. of Kalamazoo to develop a new zoning ordinance.

The council adopted a proposal from the State Highway Department for certain projects that require city financial participation for the upcoming construction project on Business Loop 196.

The joint projects include the installation of a storm sewer in the ravine adjacent to the city hall at a cost of $36,000; resurfacing of Phoenix street from Broadway to the city hall for $9,805; electrical work involving the removal and relocation of electrical poles, installation of seven new street lights and the upgrading of service to 15,000 volts for $16,735; and replacing an eight inch sewer line on Phoenix street from Bailey avenue to Bradley place with a ten inch line for $21,400.

The appointment of city employee Ben Johnson as street administrator was approved.

ABANDONED VEHICLES

The council adopted a new ordinance to regulate abandoned vehicles in the city. The ordinance takes immediate effect.

Businessman Jack Lange, owner of the Vogue Beauty Shop, 265 Center street, questioned the city's experiment of hooding parking meters. He complained that the one hour limit created a hardship on his customers who have appointments that average an hour and a half.

Community Arts Council president Ed Appleyard requested that the council take immediate steps to repair the recreation building. Water from a leaking roof has damaged most of the second floor where the arts council plans to host some of its activities. The roof has been repaired, but interior work still needs to be done. The city manager was authorized to seek estimates for the work.

The city manager and city attorney William Verdonk were instructed to begin negotiations with the South Haven Terminal Co. for operation of the municipal marina this summer.

Alderman Rex Linchberry asked the manager to prepare a report listing city employees who live outside the corporate limits.

Democrats Turn
Again To O'Brien
For Top Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Democrats have turned again to Lawrence F. O'Brien to become chairman of their divided party, a job he turned down last week.

Jacob M. Avery of Chicago, who issued the call in behalf of the Democratic executive committee Monday, said he hoped O'Brien's answer this time would be yes.

"He said he was flattered by the unanimity of the action . . . but 'wanted 24 hours to think about it,' Avery said after telephoning O'Brien that the executive committee wanted him.

UNDER WRAPS: All of South Haven's parking meters in the central business district were put under wraps Monday as the second phase of an experiment to determine their necessity. Parking in front of the 250 meters will be free for one hour. Those violating the one-hour limit will face a $2 fine instead of the 50 cents assessment placed for overtime parking at meters. Two-thirds of the meters were covered last November. All the meters will remain covered until May 2, when the city council will evaluate the experiment. (Tom Renner photo)

Township-Village Hall Considered

Berrien Springs May Join Oronoko In Project

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council last night discussed the possibility of sharing the use and expenses of the new Oronoko township hall to be built this spring near Snow road.

Edgar Kesterke, council president, said a joint township and village hall would be more economical for both municipalities.

Kesterke said that because of the relocation of US-31, west of Berrien Springs, the village is expected to expand in that direction and the proposed hall eventually would be closer to the center of Berrien Springs than the present village hall on Ferry street.

Councilmen agreed with Kesterke and decided to discuss the matter with the Oronoko township board. Kesterke said members of the township board with whom he had talked were in favor of a joint hall.

JOINT FIRE STATION

The township and village currently operate a joint fire station. If the fire station and village police department could be moved to the location of the

Four Held On Drug Charges

NILES — Four persons are in custody today on charges of selling narcotics and for conspiracy to violate the state narcotics laws, according to state police from the Niles post.

Troopers said the four persons, two males and two females, ranging in age from 19 to 23, are lodged in the Cass county jail. State police asked the press to withhold the names of those arrested pending their arraignment later today.

State police said the four were arrested at a home in Howard township about 1 a.m. today. Troopers said they are confident what they think are some of the most potent of hashish, a refined form of marijuana; marijuana; some pills, believed to be amphetamine; and a small amount of LSD.

Police estimated the value of the narcotics to be about $200.

Man Mauled By Tiger

HOUSTON (AP) — An elderly Herman Park Zoo worker was mauled by a Bengal tiger Monday.

Leody J. Miquez, 66, was clipping grass outside the female tiger's cage when the animal stuck a paw through the bars and grabbed him.

Miquez was clawed from head to waist. Surgeons said his condition was satisfactory.

Jessie Smith, 28, said he banged a trash can against the cage until the tiger let Miquez go.

Zoo Director John Weller said he believed the big cat grabbed Miquez in play, but got rough when he tried to pull free.

SAVE 20% on Made-to-Measure Draperies...
A Beautiful Way to Decorate Problem Windows
Any Length up to 108 in.—Any Width up to 240 in.

A matter of inches can make the difference in your fashions... so why not in window fashions? At Sears drapery shop, we realize that not every window falls into a normal size range. Some windows are just a little too skinny or just a little too wide. Alas. A perfect fit could be an expensive proposition. But our made-to-measure draperies give an inch without taking a mile from your pocketbook. And you can choose lined or unlined fabrics from sheers to textures and casements in glorious weaves and colors. In just a few weeks, you'll have beautifully finished pinch-pleated draperies that measure up to your expectations. All ready to hang. Just bring your window measurements with you to be sure of a perfect fit. Measure for measure, you'll find draperies to suit your needs and budget in... the Ideashop
